Instructions for Completion of the Consumer Information Form

- 1. Before filing a complaint, we strongly urge you to contact your contractor and advise him of your problems. Talk about the problems together; try to reach an agreement. We have found that many complaints can be resolved by simply opening the lines of communication. If talking does not work, make a list of your complaints, and provide a copy to the contractor, suggesting a reasonable time for response.
- To obtain our assistance in resolving your problem, you will need to complete a consumer information form and return it to us. Please pay careful attention when completing the form. We can assist you more efficiently if your form is completed correctly.
- 3. The Nevada State Contractors Board may be able to help you in situations where: the contractor has not done what was agreed upon, has done it incorrectly, or if something has failed because of improper work. If the contractor was not licensed, our actions are limited. The Board cannot require an unlicensed person to make repairs or restitution. Unlicensed contracting activity is pursued through the justice court system following completion of an investigation.
- 4. For additional information, please read "How to File a Complaint Against a Contractor." The information sheets will explain how the Nevada State Contractors Board may be able to help you resolve your problem. The information will enable you to better determine if your complaint is within the jurisdiction of the Nevada State Contractors Board.
- 5. You will notice that the information form is divided into groups. The groups contain several areas for you to include information required for us to process your complaint. Only one contractor can be listed per information form. If you have questions about filling out the form, please call the nearest office of the Nevada State Contractors Board. In Northern Nevada, call (775) 688-1141 or in Southern Nevada call (702) 486-1100.

Include in your complaint, everything you want to have considered by the Nevada State Contractors Board. Mail or take the completed information form(s) to the Nevada State Contractors Board office. You will need to show:

- You had an agreement or contract with the contractor, involving construction related work at a job-site in Nevada.
- Specific complaint items, such as listing of defective, substandard, or improper work, failure to make timely payments, causing a lien to be filed, abandonment, or other breach of the contract or agreement.
- 6. Please complete all boxes in all sections on the information form. Print or type all entries.
- 7. If your contract was an oral agreement, you must provide documentation to verify your complaint, such as legible reproducible copies of canceled checks, statements, or billings.
- 8. If your contract was a written agreement, provide a legible, reproducible copy of the entire contract or earnest money agreement bearing both the contractor's signature and your signature.
- 9. List the actual problems and the reason for your complaint. Additional pages may be attached if needed or you may write on the back of the form. Please return signed information forms and all copies of supporting documents to the Nevada State Contractors Board. How to File a Complaint against a Contractor

The purpose of the Nevada State Contractors Board is to license and regulate contractors for the protection of the public. The term "contractor" includes individuals or firms who offer services to improve real property, including but not limited to: home building; remodeling; room additions; swimming pools; painting; roofing; landscaping; plumbing; electrical; heating and air conditioning. To obtain a complete list of license classifications, you may use our interactive voice response system by telephoning (702) 486-1100 or (775) 688-1141, please request topic 205 or access our website at www.nscb.nv.gov Complaints within the Board's jurisdiction include, but are not limited to: failure of a licensed contractor to fulfill the terms of an agreement, including: poor workmanship; abandonment; failure to pay subcontractors, material suppliers or employees; building code violations; and use of false, misleading or deceptive advertising. Complaints against contractors may be filed with the Board by homeowners, other contractors, subcontractors, employees, and other public agencies.

How to File a Complaint

Complaints involving allegations of substandard workmanship or money owing matters must be filed in writing with the Board. The standard Consumer Information Form used by the Board may be obtained on our website www.nscb.nv.gov or by writing, calling, or stopping by the nearest office and requesting Form 102. The Board maintains offices in Reno and Henderson. Consumer information forms and other helpful information sheets are also available by fax.

How Your Complaint is Handled

Complaints are processed in the order they are received or degree of severity. Each complaint is reviewed to determine if it falls within the jurisdiction of the Nevada State Contractors Board.

A copy of the complaint will be mailed to the contractor (if the contractor is licensed by the board) along with a letter advising him to contact you to attempt to resolve the problem. If this is not successful, a Board representative or investigator will contact you and schedule a meeting or job-site visit. After this meeting, the investigator will advise both parties of his or her findings including a time period in which the work should be completed if corrections are required. The time required to resolve a complaint might vary depending on the nature of the complaint and the cooperation of the parties.

In the event that the complaint cannot be resolved after the investigator's recommendations have been issued, formal disciplinary proceedings may be initiated.

Violations of the Nevada License Law by a licensed contractor may result in disciplinary action of the contractor's license, imposed by the Board. Discipline may include fines or penalties, suspension, revocation, orders of correction, letter of reprimand, probation, or other discipline. In cases where there is legal authority to do so, the contractor may be required by the Board to make repairs. However, the Board is not a substitute for the courts, so if your primary interest is to obtain restitution, you should seek advice from an attorney. The Nevada State Contractors Board will receive and investigate all alleged complaints. This includes complaints that arise from a contract that contains arbitration or mediation clause, which has been agreed to by the complainant and the contractor.

The Board also investigates complaints involving unlicensed contracting activities and alleged violations by licensed contractors; such as out of scope, over limit, conducting business with an unlicensed person. It is illegal for an unlicensed person to perform contracting work on any project. It is a violation of the Nevada State Contractors Board licensing law for a licensed contractor to hire an unlicensed contractor. Complaints involving unlicensed contracting activities or alleged violations of industry regulations may be either in writing or filed anonymously. However, we encourage complainants to submit written complaints whenever possible to assist us in the investigation.

Complaint Disclosure

Upon request, the Nevada State Contractors Board provides information about a licensed contractor's license and bond status, as well as disciplinary action. Complaint disclosure is restricted by law to cases which resulted in disciplinary action taken by the Board and those matters formally noticed of pending disciplinary action.
